What is Pennsylvania's definition of municipal waste (the trash you produce)?

Any garbage, refuse, industrial lunchroom or office waste and other material, including solid, liquid, semisolid or contained gaseous material, resulting from operation of residential, municipal, commercial or institutional establishments and from community activities and any sludge not meeting the definition of residual or hazardous waste in the Solid Waste Management Act from a municipal, commercial or institutional water supply treatment plant, wastewater treatment plant or air pollution control facility. The term does not include source-separated recyclable materials.

RESIDENTIAL TRASH —In essence, any garbage (municipal solid waste) that is generated at your home is not considered to be hazardous; it is NOT regulated the same as commercial municipal solid waste.
